December ASPIA meeting – 6 December 2008

This will be our Christmas party

Our speaker will be Patricia Berrutti who will talk to us about self-care and survival.

Patricia has been involved in Carer Support work for many years and runs groups and courses for carers.

I would also like to make this meeting an ASPIA REUNION

We are hoping that lots of our “old” ASPIA members will be able to join us as someone special from our past is planning to be there.

New Phone Number for ASPIA

ASPIA now has its own phone

0432 507 828

The idea is that I will answer the phone if I am available for ASPIA work at the time, otherwise there is a recorded message that asks you to please leave your name, phone number and a short message and I'll phone back as soon as I am available to do ASPIA work.

This phone has been purchased with the Attwood/Henault workshops in mind particularly so that I can manage telephone registrations a little more sanely this time.

School Aged Children with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD's)

Due to increased government interest and funding a number of initiatives are being made in relation to the support of families who have children with ASD's.

I have recently received some brochures from ASPECT on “Positive Partnerships” by the Australian Autism Education & Training Consortium. They are holding Workshops and Information Sessions commencing in November for parents/carers of school aged students on the autism spectrum.

Call: 1300 881 971 or visit www.autismtraining.com.au

We can only hope that these government supported initiatives will help bring about an increased level of awareness within our Australian communities that eventually will have a flow-through effect to the identification of adults with Asperger's Syndrome and recognition that families affected by an adult with Asperger's Syndrome need support too.

Melbourne Psychologist

We will be adding the name of another Psychologist to our list for Melbourne

Dr Janine Manjiviona

Clinical Psychologist

Ph: 03 9891 6835

I enjoyed a wonderful telephone conversation with Janine a few weeks ago and feel very confident in her ability to provide support and guidance to partners and adults with Asperger's Syndrome. Janine has had experience working with Tony Attwood in a clinical setting.

Our Thought for the Month . . .

“The question of whether Asperger's Syndrome is a condition that needs to be treated is answered by the fact that human interaction is a pre-requisite for making the world a better place.”
